

HOTEL JACENT

Visitor Guide

FEB. 2 — MAR. 4, 2018

THE LANDLORD'S LETTER

by Sabine Schmidt

Dear Visitor,

A warm welcome to Hotel Jacent, the only temporary gallery/hotel in Berlin.

Jade Fourès-Varnier and Vincent de Hoÿm proposed the Hotel Jacent project and helped me to understand the fantastic idea of having my gallery visitors enjoy not only a special art experience, but also a special personal and architectural experience by wandering around, contemplating, and sleeping among the works in the gallery space. It is a wonderful opportunity to allow visitors the chance to spend more than the usual 10–30 minute experience, by inviting them to come in, eat, drink, read, talk, and sleep inside the environment created by the French artists duo.

Hotel Jacent is a contemporary place and at the same time a historical place, located in the wonderful heart of Berlin Tiergarten, surrounded by the city, but also water and nature. The view Hotel Jacent offers is unique, and the service here is the best. I hope you will find the time and inner peace to enjoy the coziness of Hotel Jacent, the former and current home of many artworks and many people—one of them the one and only Hans Albers. As Hans Albers used to sing “Das letzte Hemd hat leider keine Taschen” (There are no pockets in a shroud). Art is not only a material beauty, it is also an adventure.

Sabine Schmidt

Hans Albers (1891–1960)
was a German actor and singer.

Dear

Welcome to

A bookable, temporary apartment for two people at PSM, Berlin, from February 2 to March 4, 2018.

Kimono robes, shirts, slippers, terry towels, laptop with Internet, speakers, books and magazines are at your disposal in the Main Suite.

Our Wintergarten Bar offers red and white wines from the south of France, as well as liquors, beer, juices and mineral water.

The kitchen, which is available for cooking, offers tea and coffee, honey, jam and butter.

Bread and viennoiseries are delivered to your doorstep every morning at 8:00 am.

Pot, tobacco, medicine and a first-aid kit are located in the bathroom.

Have a look at our Visitor Guide which includes information regarding the hotel history and some special tips on the city. Other books are stocked in the shelves of the corridor.

The TV only shows a dance video. To stop it or relaunch please use the remote control.

For any special inquiries, our dear landlord Sabine Schmidt will be delighted to help you: +49 178 78 55 167.

The wi-fi code is: beingblue61

Have a nice stay,

CITY TIPS

by Maurin Dietrich, Cathrin Mayer, Louis Balsan

Maurin's advice

Da Jia Le

Goebenstraße 23,
10783 Berlin Schöneberg
*Best chinese food
place in town.*

Olivin Wellness Sauna

Schönhauser Allee 177,
10119 Berlin
*Best sauna in town
and very underrated.*

Alte Liebe

Havelchaussee 107,
14055 Berlin
*One of my favorite spots outside the city. It's an old boat with a restaurant on it, called "old love". They serve the best apple pie
and you can go for long walks along the Havel, or go swimming in the summer.*

Bröhan-Museum

Schloßstraße 1a,
14059 Berlin
One of those weird state run museums :) that is specialized in Art Déco and Functionalism.

Abguss-Sammlung Antiker Plastik

Schloßstraße 69b,
14059 Berlin
Across the street from Bröhan-Museum you find the collection of replicas of monuments and sculptures in Berlin. It looks like the backdrop of a potential Kanye West video.

Galleries Lafayette

Französische Straße 23,
10117 Berlin
*Whenever I miss Jade and Vincent I go to Galleries Lafayette. Take the elevator one floor down to the food department and have good wine and cheese there.
They also serve the best fish soup and its one of the only a bit glamorous places in Berlin.*

Schlachtensee

Am Schlachtensee 82,
14129 Berlin
One of my favorite lakes in Berlin. Take the tram and get out there. Walk around the lake and have lunch at the Fischerhütte am Schlachtensee. They serve good gulasch and have an open fireplace with a really good wine selection.
